The Philippines is an irresistible package of old-world charm and modernity, with its world-class facilities interwoven into long-standing cultural and historical traditions. Surrounded by the warm waters of the West Philippine Sea and the Pacific Ocean, the country boasts of countless attractions - from sun-drenched, white-sand beaches fringed with swaying coconut palm trees, to cascading waterfalls and thrilling rapids; and from sophisticated entertainment in its five-star facilities, to its gracious centuries-old culture, where the fiesta reigns supreme. This festive archipelago of 7,107 delightful islands is home to one of the most fun-loving peoples on earth, whose traditions of warm hospitality welcomes visitors to a rich diverse nation where color, beauty and excitement are never far away.

MESSAGE FROM PHILIPPINES DEPARTMENT OF TOURISM

Ramon R. Jimenez, Jr.
Secretary of Tourism

A cooperative effort of promoting the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) region as a single tourist destination, the ASEAN Tourism Forum (ATF) is an annual gathering that brings together the member countries of the ASEAN to discuss innovations, trends, and developments in the tourism industry and facilitate joint policy formulations to accelerate the growth of the region's tourism.

Most people describe the countries in our region as "fiercely competitive." But upon closer look, one realizes that the more the countries of ASEAN compete, the more that we all tend to gravitate towards growth. Our region is characterized by coopetition—a cooperative, collaborative decision by all players to compete with each other so that the world will choose the region before choosing the country. Our countries become, in very real terms, each other's value extension—we become each other's developing markets. And to make this development last for our children, we have to make certain that we are mindful of the social and environmental context that our region's growth exists in.

The Department of Tourism (DOT) is, therefore, honored and proud of the Philippines' hosting of ATF 2016. With the theme, One Community for Sustainability, the 35th edition of this forum will launch the new ASEAN Tourism Strategic Plan (ATSP) 2016 – 2020, which will work towards not only the development and growth of the region's tourism, but also in ensuring that this growth is grounded on responsible, sustainable, and inclusive tourism.

To all the delegates, we welcome you to our home, the Philippines. We hope that, beyond the conference walls of this meeting, you experience our country in different ways—from our diverse natural wonders to our rich cultural heritage and the warmth of the Filipino people. And while this forum will allow for the exchange of ideas for the progress of our economies, we also hope that these meetings will build stronger friendships between our nations.

Thank you, and Mabuhay!

Ramon R. Jimenez, Jr.
Secretary of Tourism

COMMUNITY For Sustainability

ASEAN (Association of Southeast Asian Nations) embodies unity in diversity and is a colourful and vibrant tropical 10-in-one paradise like no other. Its great outdoors and rich culture unique to each country, bands the 10-member nations as a one regional destination in tourism.

With tourism being a vital foothold in the economic and social growth of the region and its countries, ASEAN is committed to strive towards delivering a quality destination experience for each and every visitor, an endeavor that is centered on responsibility, sustainability and inclusive tourism development.

With the 10-member states collaborating and striving towards sustainable tourism, the star that is Southeast Asia promises to shine bright as the destinations achieve a flourishing balance of growth and preservation, a formula that will benefit the local population and elevate poverty.

The beauty of Southeast Asia lies in its enchanting DNA of warm and hospitable people, culture, language, religion, architecture, cuisine and geography, where old centuries meet the 21st century. ASEAN has since captivated every spectrum of today's traveller – from adventure seekers, backpackers, businessmen, families, to photography enthusiasts, those seeking sun, sand and sea, trekkers, and more.

Whether for business or for pleasure, Southeast Asia wants to continue maintaining a high level of tourist satisfaction, ensuring a meaningful experience to its tourists while raising their awareness about sustainability issues and promoting sustainable tourism practices amongst them.

To capture a piece of the past, to take advantage of the present, and to secure a return in the future to relive the wondrous experience all over again – ASEAN seeks to realise its tourism ambitions with sustainability that respects the local people, the traveller, its cultural heritage and the environment.

ASEAN is an exciting and educational journey. ASEAN is 'One Community for Sustainability'.

ATF OBJECTIVES AND COMPONENTS

The ASEAN Tourism Forum (ATF) is a cooperative regional effort to promote the Association of the Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) region as one tourist destination. This annual event involves all the tourism industry sectors of the 10 member nations of ASEAN: Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Vietnam.

Each year, the hosting of ATF is rotated among the member countries. ATF 2016 marks the 35th anniversary of this event since its inauguration in Malaysia in 1981.

ATF aims to:

- Project ASEAN as an attractive, multi-faceted single destination
- Create and increase awareness of ASEAN as a highly competitive regional tourist destination in the Asia Pacific
- Attract more tourists to ASEAN member countries
- Promote intra-ASEAN travel
- Strengthen cooperation among the various sectors of the ASEAN tourism industry

As the annual convention of the ASEAN tourism industry, ATF promotes the exchange of ideas, review of industry developments and joint formulation of recommendations to further accelerate the growth of ASEAN tourism.

ATF TRAVEX

ATF also provides a platform for the selling and buying of regional and individual tourism products of ASEAN member countries, through the 3-day TRAVEX event.

The unique and specialized ATF TRAVEX makes it easy and convenient for suppliers of ASEAN tourism products and services and international buyers to conduct business and meet quality participants. Both parties can maximize their participation through flexible one-to-one pre-scheduled meetings to explore, negotiate and ink deals with each other.

Philippines

HOST COUNTRY OF ATF 2016

It's more fun in the Philippines

Which country is an archipelago of 7,107 islands and often described as a glittering necklace of emeralds in the Pacific? Answer: The Philippines. Endowed with tropical weather all-year round, tropical foliage bloom and share its perennial beauty in this country. A hundred volcanoes dot the islands including the Philippines in the Ring of Fire, to which it owes its rich, fertile landscape and perhaps the world's greatest biodiversity.

To its north, crossing the Luzon Strait is Taiwan, while Vietnam is on the west across the West Philippine Sea. Beyond the Sulu Sea is Borneo in the southwest, and to the south, the Celebes Sea separates it from Indonesia. To the east, it is bounded by the Philippine Sea and the island-nation of Palau.

The Philippines' three largest islands of Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao separate the Filipinos into more than 78 ethno-linguistic groups speaking more than 150 languages. The national language is Filipino but have no fear, English is widely spoken.

Language aside, getting to or trading with the Philippines is a breeze with 10 international airports scattered all over, serving passengers and cargo alike. Produce such as the sweetest mangoes and bananas, delectable pineapples and the versatile coconut oil are main exports, but major non-agricultural export products include electronic products, transport equipment, garments, copper, and petroleum products.

Almost every day of the year, in countless communities and towns, and in more than 500 cities and 81 provinces, there is a colorful, flavorful and exciting fiesta or festival happening. The Filipinos love to celebrate and they show it with their love of food. With Spanish, Malay, Chinese and Indian influences, Philippine cuisine is as vivid and vibrant as the changing colors of the sky at dusk. Mix good food with gregarious and fun-loving people, and you get a country where foreigners make their home almost instantly.

Pristine beaches or crashing waves, bountiful lakes or serene lagoons, magnificent mountains or challenging volcanoes, idyllic country sides or highly developed cities and urban centers, the Philippines has it all. Best of which is the highlight of each trip one takes, the fascinatingly captivating, warm and hospitable smile of a people who welcomes every traveler with guiding hands and stories to tell.

NATURAL WONDERS TO DISCOVER

Boracay

Out of all the islands in the world, Travel+Leisure Magazine chose to name this as its Best Overall Island of 2012 and Asia's #1 Island. A postcard-sized tropical paradise with fine powder-white sand beaches; it is just seven kilometers long, and less than a kilometer wide at its narrowest point. Enjoy water activities and parties from sun up to sundown on this 24/7 island.

Vigan

Filled with cobblestone walkways, horse-drawn carriages, and mansions of yester-years, this place is one of the few remaining 16th century towns in the Philippines. A UNESCO World Heritage Site and one of the New 7 Wonder Cities, travelers frequent this romantic destination as they gallivant through time.

Bohol

This human heart-shaped island-province has hills that look like mounds of chocolate, primates so small they fit in the palm of your hand, restaurants that float gently down a river and centuries-old churches and ruins. Completing the package are secluded white beaches that are meters away from spectacular underwater scenery.

Banaue

In the northern part of the country, the cool highlands of the largest mountain range in the Philippines boasts of another UNESCO World Heritage Site. Distinct ethnic groups and cultures surround the Banaue Rice Terraces which were carved by hand 2,000 years ago. To get the best view, try catching the grandest stairways to the sky during harvest time.

Palawan

Home of the longest navigable underground river, limestone cliffs, historical underwater wrecks, copious varieties of plants, trees, birds, mammals, reptiles, and bat species. Often called the last frontier, Palawan will surprise with picture-perfect angles all around.

Davao

The largest city in the country is a destination that offers diverse travel experiences set in lush natural landscapes — from fine white sand beaches to highlands with refreshing cool climates. A melting pot of various cultures, including minority groups, get a taste of things you won't find anywhere else, such as scaling the highest peak in the Philippines, admiring rare flora and fauna up-close, or even sampling creative dishes that incorporate the smelly but well-loved durian.

Iloilo

The old and the new are intertwined in this province as the Iloilo river winds its way through the city, passing by historical structures alongside modern landscapes. With the newly-built Iloilo Convention Center, it is also an emerging Meetings, Incentives, Conventions and Exhibitions (MICE) destination with a full range of attractions plus numerous mouth-watering delicacies.

Cebu

The first Spanish settlement in the Philippines is a diverse destination complete with some of the country's most iconic heritage spots. Culture, sports, business and entertainment can all be had in the city. But all that can be a side trip to make way for the country's biggest festival – Sinulog, a wild, colorful street party attracting revelers from around the Philippines and the world every January.

Rice fields, rice terraces, fish ponds and fish pens, villages, cities, highways and bridges tell stories of a people's journey through history. Philippine offerings are as diverse as the languages the Filipinos speak, but as united in beauty and charm as a widening horizon, bringing you the promise of an exciting and amazing relationship no matter what your purpose is for visiting.
